Title: Lonely

Medium/Materials: Watercolor on Paper

Year: 2020

Concept/Description: From my solitary perch, I watch the seasons turn. The world is a canvas of vibrant greens, but I stand bare, a silent observer against the sprawling landscape. This piece captures my experience of quiet isolation, finding a profound sense of self within the vast, indifferent beauty of the mountains.

Title: Indian Family Day Out

Medium/Materials: Watercolor and Ink on Paper

Year: 2020

Concept/Description: This piece is a snapshot of an everyday moment in India, capturing the simple joy of a family day out. It focuses on the vibrant street life and the small, shared interactions that define a community, from the lively vendor's cart to the busy crowd in the background.

Title: Chromatic Tears

Medium/Materials: Graphite and Watercolor/Ink on Paper

Year: 2020

Concept/Description: This piece explores the depth of human emotion through a unique visual metaphor. The meticulously rendered eye contrasts with a vibrant outpouring of color, symbolizing how tears can embody a complex spectrum of feelings—not just sadness, but also joy, anger, wonder, and passion—making the invisible world of emotion visible.

Title: The Devil's Cat

Medium/Materials: Watercolor, Ink, and Mixed Media on Paper

Year: 2019

Concept/Description: This conceptual book cover delves into the darker side of human nature, suggesting that a "devil" resides within us all. The ominous, glowing eyes emerging from the desolate landscape symbolize the hidden forces of anger and ego that can lurk just beneath the surface, waiting for a moment to take control. This painting externalizes our inner demons, presenting a stark reflection of the universal human struggle with temptation and self-control.

Title: The Gaze

Medium/Materials: Graphite on Paper

Year: 2020

Concept/Description: This series of character studies explores the psychological weight of perception and the silent judgments that exist in social spaces. The sketches of the male figures, positioned in relation to a solitary woman, are intentionally rendered with smudges and dust. These marks are not flaws; they are a key part of the artwork's concept, symbolizing the "dirt" or impure thoughts—such as ego and envy—that reside just beneath the surface of a seemingly ordinary scene.

Title: Sanctuary

Medium/Materials: Watercolor on Paper

Year: 2020

Concept/Description: This landscape is a visual representation of a mental haven, a single place that offers complete peace of mind. The calm, reflective waters and the quiet strength of the mountains combine to create a sense of sanctuary, inviting the viewer to find a moment of stillness and escape from the chaos of the outside world.

Study in Refractions

- Title: A Child's Memory

- Medium/Materials: Watercolor on Paper

- Year:2019

Concept/Description: This painting is a visual gift, a heartfelt tribute from a child to their parents. Created in a pure, almost naive style, it captures a cherished memory of family togetherness amidst a serene landscape. The simple forms and bright colors are a reflection of a child's perspective, full of genuine emotion and an unadulterated love for those closest to them, making this more than just a picture—it's a piece of shared memory.

- Title: Market Resilience
- Medium/Materials: Watercolor and Ink on Paper
- Year: 2020
- Concept/Description: This painting is a vibrant tribute to the resilience and strength of hardworking women. It elevates an everyday market scene to celebrate the central figures of the community—the vendors who, through their labor, embody dignity and perseverance. The lively colors and dynamic composition reflect the energy and vitality of their work.

•Title: Unyielding

•Medium/Materials: Watercolor and Ink on Paper

•Year: 2020

Concept/Description: This painting is a tribute to the quiet but profound strength of the human spirit. It depicts two women on an uphill journey, their forms a symbol of endurance and perseverance. The artwork elevates their daily labor, capturing the dignity and shared resilience found in overcoming life's challenges. It's a powerful reminder that true strength often lies in simply carrying on

- Title: The Unburnt Ravana

- Medium/Materials: Watercolor and Ink on Paper

- Year: 2020

- Concept/Description: This painting uses the traditional imagery of the Indian festival of Dussehra to explore a more unsettling, contemporary theme. It subverts the narrative of good triumphing over evil, asking a challenging question: what if, this time, evil prevails? The artwork serves as a social commentary, reflecting on a world where the moral struggle is complex and the victory of justice is not always assured. The vibrant setting contrasts with this dark concept, highlighting a powerful and unresolved tension.

•Title: Unconditional

•Medium/Materials: Colored Pencil and Ink on Paper

•Year: 2020

•Concept/Description: This piece is a powerful visual metaphor for unconditional love and unwavering support. It explores the idea that true care has no excuse and no boundaries. The two figures, linked by a bond that transcends their physical circumstances, symbolize the enduring promise, "I will love you till my last breath, as you are." It is a tribute to a love that is pure, lasting, and absolute.

•Title: Auspicious Beginnings

•Medium/Materials: Mixed Media on Paper

•Year: 2019

•Concept/Description: This artwork is a vibrant tribute to Lord Ganesha, who is revered as the first deity to be worshipped before any new endeavor. The painting symbolizes the start of the good, embodying the spirit of new beginnings and the removal of obstacles. The complex, mosaic-like textures and bold colors represent the rich and varied journey of life, with Ganesha's presence offering divine guidance and a sense of auspiciousness.

Title: Beotkkot Serenity

Medium/Materials: Acrylic and Watercolor on Paper

Year: 2019

Concept/Description

This painting is a personal tribute to the seasons of South Korea, where the blooming of beotkkot (cherry blossoms) signifies a time of renewal and the flourishing of new love. The vibrant pink blossoms emerge with bold energy against a calm, monochromatic background of misty mountains, symbolizing how new and passionate feelings can blossom beautifully from a place of peace and tranquility.
